Important Notes to Department of Architecture and Building Engineering Applicants (Entrance Examination for Academic Year 2022 Admission)

1. About Specialized Subjects (1)

Twenty-four questions will be included in the Specialized Subjects (1) exam. They will consist of two questions from each of the twelve areas in the six groups shown in the table below. For example, there will be four questions from Group A—two questions from the Calculus area and two from the Linear Algebra area. Of these 24 questions, examinees must choose and answer a total of 15 (two questions from each of five groups, and five questions chosen from the remaining 14 questions). When selecting two questions from each of five groups, you may choose one question from each area in each group (for example, Calculus and Linear Algebra in Group A) or two questions from just one area in the group (for example, either Calculus or Linear Algebra in Group A).

You may also choose to answer more than fifteen questions. However, your score will be the total of (1) and (2) below, not a grand total of the scores of all questions answered.

- (1) The ten questions from five groups; these are extracted by selecting the two questions you achieve the highest score on from each group, adding the two scores, respectively, and picking five groups in the order of the highest total scores
- (2) The five questions with the highest scores from the remaining fourteen questions

Please note that you are required to select the questions you will answer during the test. There is no preliminary survey to choose questions. Further, each question is worth an equal number of points.

Group	Areas
A	Calculus* ¹ , Linear Algebra* ¹
B	Structural Mechanics, Structural Engineering * ²
C	Building Materials Science, Building Construction
D	Building Environmental Studies, Building Environmental Systems
E	Architectural Planning, Urban Planning
F	Architectural History, Architectural Design

*1 Questions will be limited to basic university-level math.

*2 Questions will be limited to steel, reinforced concrete, and wood construction as well as vibrational studies.

2. About Specialized Subjects (2)

You may choose Architectural Design for your Specialized Subjects (2) exam. In this case, please mark a circle in the field for Architectural Design in the Specialized Subjects (2) area on your research plan form. The Architectural Design exam subject will include an oral exam based on your portfolio, so please bring your portfolio to the exam. Portfolios should be about twenty pages (with no more than two joint projects, both of which should be clearly marked as such) in an A2-size clear file folder.

3. About Research Plan Forms

You must submit a research plan form along with your application to the Department of Architecture and Building Engineering (Use the form prescribed by the graduate school).

- (1) Please enter your desired Supervisors in the 1st Choice and 2nd Choice sections.
- (2) In the “Specialized Subjects (2)” section, mark the box for either “Not Taking this Exam Subject” or “Architectural Design” with a circle after consulting with your desired Supervisor(s). You cannot change this after you submit your application.
- (3) In the “Research Plan” section, please detail the topic(s) you wish to research in the master’s program as well as the methods you intend to use. You may use any format. If you have a second choice, be sure to include a research plan for it on the back of the sheet. Be sure to contact and consult with both your first and second choices for Supervisor in depth before writing your research plan.

The content of your research plan will be reviewed during the interview. Depending on its content, we may not be able to accept your plan.

You may write your research plan using word-processing software. You may also submit photocopies, as long as you have copied both sides of the form onto one page. However, you may not attach any other materials, including in the area designated for writing the research plan.

4. Prior Consultation with prospective supervisor and Submission of Letter of Consent to Application

To be admitted in October, you must submit a letter of consent to application prepared by your prospective supervisor after careful consultation and discussion regarding your application with said faculty member before you apply (Use the form prescribed by the graduate school).

5. Other Notes

- ① Regarding admission quota: a few students.
- ② Individuals with only one choice of research field should write “None” in the field for a second choice on their application form and their research plan form.
